

2022 STUDENT EXPO

Monday, April 25, 2022

Session One: 10 - 10:50 a.m.

Ryan Liu: Economics

Insight into Financial Literacy: What's Really in Your Pocket?

Arghya Thallapragada: Computer Science

I Don't Like Sports, but I Made an App that Helps You Learn One

Kingsley Fannon: Visual Arts

A Concentration on the Subconscious for One Whole Day

David Basnight and Piercen Young: Statistics

*Now You See Me, Now You Don't:
An Educated Magic Show*

Charlotte Niblett: Creative Writing

Gilgism: The Revival of an Ancient Cult

Session Two: 11 - 11:50 a.m.

Jasmine Richards: Theater Arts

Flowers In Mycenae: Ancient Theatre for a Modern World

Samantha Dodson: World Language

*Why are Haiti and the Dominican Republic
So Close but So Different?*

Tae-In Kim: Computer Science

Machine Learning and Data Science: Artificial Intelligence that Predicts Sports' Results

Minh Nguyen: Visual Arts

Motherland

Session Three: 1:10 - 2 p.m.

Georgia Mugisha: Visual Arts

The Burnout

Louise Sprunt: Environmental Science

Dionaea Muscipula: Can They Grow at VES?

Jenny Liu: History

Japanese Foreign Policy: A Scale between East Asia and the United States

Maggie Zhang: Biology

The Tale of Quorum Sensing: A New Approach to Clinical Diseases

Virginia Haga: Visual Art

Environmentalism Photography: A Look at the Troubled World around Us

Session Four: 2:10 - 3 p.m.

Rachel Xu: Filmmaking

Caught in 4K: An Assembly of Multimedia Arts Unfolding Our Digital Existence

Mia Hindermann: Visual Arts

The Star in Reverse: An Immersive Art Installation

Colin Walsh: Computer Science

How to Watch Your Back at Starbucks: Staying Safe in a World of Malicious Morons with Computers

Lilly Lewis: World Languages

Vamos a La Bestia: Unlawful Migration from Middle School Perspectives